ton in the Little Naples dance hall, and also the probable fattal injuries of Abraham Juckeman, who was found with a fractured skull some distance away from Little Naples. The dance il is at 57 Great Joacs street, and is conducted by Paul Kolly, leader of an East Side gang. From papers found on the dead man and from information obtained from nine prisoners, two of them women, who were learned that the quarrel started over clection matters. One of the prisoners had a marked ballot of the last election in his pocket.

Harrington was killed in the barroom of the Little Naples during a revolver battle which left the floor spotted with blood and riddled the pictures on the wall. Bartender Bernard Escotte, one of those under arrest, said the fight started when four members of the Liberty Association, which is hostile to the Kelly gang, entered the room after indinight. One of these men, Escotte says, immediately ordered drinks for the whole crowd. When every one was drinking he insolently pounded with his fist on the bar and exclaimed: "My best friend was shot here Tuesday morning. Are there any of you here who know how to shoot? If you do, I'd like to have you begin."

The challenge was accepted and in the hattle which followed the police say fifty shots were fired.

When the officers arrived Harrington was dead on the floor and all the others, including the women in the dance hall, had fled after turning out the lights. The dead man's dog was found crouched whining over his master's body. The police say the friend of the liberty gang whose name was made the pretext for the fight is John Ratta, who was wounded at the Little Naples last Tuesday morning. The police also believe that a quarrel over the division of election money was the original cause of the liberty gang

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The magnitude of the election fraud investigation was increased to-day by several new cases. John Elder was held in $10,000 ball charged with illegal voting and with perfury and James Gallagher was held in $5,000 ball on a charge of perfury. It is charged that Elder voted in an election district which was not his residence and that Gallagher swore to Elder's residence in that district. Frank D. Batzig, a Tammany member of a district board of election inspectors, was held in $5,000 ball. W. R. Heart's lawyers claimed that innet-one votes were found in the one election district of the twentieth assembly district which should have been counted for heart and were not.

The sessions of the International Sunday-school Association for the negroes closed last night. The morning session of the association was opened by a conference with the pastors and superintendents, conducted by Mr. Marion Lawrance, general secretary. This was one of the most beneficial services of the association.

Hon. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, spoke on "The young man, how to reach and hold him." Mr. W. N. Hartshorn, Boston, Mass., the international chairman, was introduced. Mr. Hartshorn spoke on the qualifications necessary to be a lender. The man who lends must keep shead of those who follow. Mr. Hartshorn showshis intense interest in this work by his personal sacrifices and large contributions. His appeal for preparation was strong and convincing.

Among the speakers at this session were Prof. W. G. Pearson, of Durham Mr. Marton Lawrance, Rev. D. Webster Davis and others. The meetings, continuing two days, were in every way a success.

chester Considered Liberal.

The joint committee from the Richmond and Manchester Councils to consider the matter of the consolidation of the two cities met in the City Hall last night. The following were present: Messrs. Cannon, Pollard, Gunst and Spence, of Richmond, and Messrs. Adkins, Bradley, Patram and Robertson, of Manchester.

It was expected that the Manchester contingent would come over with a proposition of some kind, but they did not. On the contrary they asked for propositions from Richmond. The Richmond me were ready with a tentative proposition and submitted it. It is as follows:

I. Richmond to assume all liabilities of Manchester and take over all of her assets.

assets.

2. Mancheter to be taken into Richmond as one ward with equal representation in the Council with the other wards of Richmond.

3. All revenues derived from the fist day of January, 1993, either on property of from other sources, including licenses, to be wholly expended within the territorial limits of Manchester upon street, light water, sewer or other public improvenues.

water, sewer or other public improvements.

4. Richmond to guarantee the constrution of a free bridge at or near the site of the present Mayo's bridge.

5. Manchester to be supplied with gas and water of like quality with other portions of Richmond.

6. All office-holders of Manchester to be provided for at present salaries until the expiration of their respective terms.

The different items of this tentative proposition were discussed and explained in an informal way and finally the Manchester councilmen asked time to conferwith other members of the Council before making any manner of reply. To give them the necessary time another meeting of the joint committee was arranged for 6 o'clock next Monday evening.

Two of the Manchester men expressed themselves on the subject of the proposition, saying they considered it very liberal and fair, but they were in no position to say how it would strike the people generally of their town.

The football team of the Richmond Academy was formally disbanded yesterday by Dean W. L. Prince. The season has been eminently successful, and the Academy boys are very proud of the fine record made by their representatives on the gridiron. In fact, the team was not defeated in the whole season, and was scored on only by McGuire's School. The secres of the season are against Nolley's School. 10 to 0; against Richmond City High School, 5 to 0; against McGuire's School, 16 to 6. By virtue of these results the Academy claims the school championship of the city.

Mr. Putney was a member of old Trinity Methodist Church until Broad Street Methodist Church was organized, when he became identified with it.

At the beginning of the war he was made captain and quartermaster in the Confederate service, and was placed in charge of the government shoe factory, where he served his adopted country with intelligence and ability.

For more than two years before his death Mr. Putney suffered from asthma, and to such an extent that he was unable to sleep in bed, being obliged to rest in an armchair.

On one occasion while in the city, he called at the factory, and expressed to Major Putney his great satisfaction at the improved quality of the output. Major Putney had just received from England, through the blockade runners, a supply of the finest calf skins, sole leather, and other material for making fine boots, and observing that the General's footwear appeared worn, suggested that he have his measure taken for a pair of boots.

Admitting his need, the General consented, and the Major called his best workman in the factory, a man named McClosky, from a Mississippl Regiment, and directed him to take the measure and make the boots. McClosky feeling highly honored by the selection, carefully measured the General, and promised the best job of his life.
